Change in Management

We are entering a new chapter as of January 1, 2026.

Two experienced leaders are stepping into the management team to shape the company's future together. Dr.-Ing. Nicole E. Metzler will be responsible for the technical division, while Lorenz Förster will be responsible for the commercial division.

At the same time, we say goodbye to our managing director Stieven Maahs, who is entering a well-deserved retirement. After many decades in aviation, we would like to sincerely thank him for his dedication, his clear values, and the trustful relationships he built with colleagues, customers, and partners. His contribution has left a lasting mark on our company.

Continuity, responsibility, and a clear focus on the future remain at the heart of what we do. We are grateful for what has been achieved – and excited about what lies ahead.
